

WHY LIFESKILLS MEDICAL

Dr Glyn F Roberts PhD, M.Sc.,
Chief Executive Officer

decisions taken by rescue crews can mean the difference between life and death for their patient

Yet again throughout 2010 Lifeskills Medical is maintaining its position as the UK's largest provider of pre-hospital care training outside the NHS, and a major provider of private ambulance and event medical services throughout the UK. Continually updating our portfolio to meet changing demands from you the client, for effective basic, intermediate, and advanced trauma and medical care, we are now undertaking major projects in the United Arab Emirates, working closely with the Emirates Institute for Health and Safety (EHS), and we are developing the HSE Offshore Medic course.

Our commitment to you to provide professional customised training throughout the world to meet your operational requirements, is part of our on-going awareness of the greater need to develop and maintain professional standards than ever before. This is true of the Emergency Medical Services, Police, Military, Fire & Rescue Services, and Security Services throughout the world - who all play a vital part in the ever increasing EMS role.

Governments in developing countries are now realising that professional EMS provision through skills development in modern trauma care and medical intervention is the only way to ensure that they are delivering the standards of care now expected of them. Training is not a 'tick-box' exercise - on scene decisions taken by your rescue crews can mean the difference between life and death for the patient in their care, and the professional training you choose is therefore essential - wrong decision making in an emergency is not an option.

As in the UK, we are the number one choice for professional organisations world-wide - regularly drawing students from the United States, Western and Eastern Europe, Africa, the Middle East, and South East Asia. We are qualified and accredited to provide training to a wide range of private and public sector bodies - both large and small. You will receive full consultancy, with best-practice, cost-effective training, recognised throughout the world, at our own training centre and at centres world-wide.

Furthermore, your requirements for modern PTS, A&E, HDU ambulances or Rapid Response Vehicles at any time of the day or night, or for correct event medical cover or emergency response technical rescue teams will be met, on time, every time.

We understand our business, and I am proud of my organisation and my staff - we are professional and carry out our work with a passion. We work for you as a team and we work to ensure that Lifeskills Medical remains your choice - the professionals choice.
